Back to the Future: Enforcing the Antitrust Laws Like it's the 1960s Again

Michael Greer | Attorney | Hall, Render, Killian, Heath & Lyman, P.C.
Hannah Clarke | Attorney | Hall, Render, Killian, Heath & Lyman, P.C.

This session will focus on the current aggressive stance of federal and state antitrust enforcers, including how it impacts hospitals and health systems. From the new Federal Trade Commission/U.S. Department of Justice Merger Guidelines, noncompete rule, and Memorandum of Understanding on labor issues in merger investigations at the federal level, to the new Senate Enrolled Act 9 in Indiana, federal and state antitrust enforcers are acting like it's the 1960s again to aggressively enact and enforce antitrust laws.

10 - 11 a.m.

Health Care Enforcement Trends

John Kelly | Partner | Barnes & Thornburg LLP

This presentation will review the top health care enforcement settlements for 2023 and 2024, as well as key policy changes by the U.S. Department of Justice and Office of Inspector General for the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. This presentation will also discuss best practices related to health care compliance.

11 a.m. - Noon

Value-Based Care: An Important Part of Every Hospital's Future

Steven Pratt | Attorney | Hall, Render, Killian, Heath & Lyman, P.C.

Value-Based Care is the delivery of care with a focus on improving quality, improving the coordination of care, and reducing the cost of care. Value-Based Care requires hospitals to have and manage data, and be able to successfully take risk for the cost of care. Hospitals need to be prepared and get ahead, or they will left behind. This presentation will provide a summary of the latest trends in Value-Based Care and how hospitals can successfully incorporate or update this delivery model in their operations.

Reproductive Health Care Privacy Under HIPAA and the Impact on Indiana's Reporting Requirements

Stephanie Eckerle | Partner | Krieg DeVault LLP
Meghan McNab | Partner | Krieg DeVault LLP

The HIPAA Privacy Rule to Support Reproductive Health Care drastically changes the landscape of how hospitals should handle disclosures of reproductive health care and will require updates to policies, procedures, and workforce training. This presentation will dive into the complexities of the Final Rule, including reviewing how reproductive health care is defined, what constitutes lawful care, attestation requirements, and the operational issues that hospitals will face in implementing the Final Rule. Finally, this presentation will walk through Indiana's various reporting requirements for hospitals and providers and how the Final Rule may impact those reporting requirements.

HEA 1216: Encouraging Earlier Mental Health Intervention

Ryan McDonald | Attorney | Hall, Render, Killian, Heath & Lyman, P.C.

In 2023, the Indiana General Assembly expanded the ability of mental health providers to offer involuntary treatment to patients in crisis. This year, the Indiana General Assembly further revised the new process and the Office of Court Services updated the state-approved Application for Emergency Detention. This presentation will describe the current process – as revised – and the additional support offered to mental health providers.
